

SAM INSULL MAY LEAVE GREECE AGAIN TONIGHT

STRIKE OF AUTO UNION WEDNESDAY VERY IMMINENT

NRA Chief Regards Situation as Critical: Plans Conferences

BULLETIN

Washington, March 17—(AP)—Railroad labor unions today flatly rejected a proposal by managers that the present 10 per cent wage cut be continued until April 30, 1935.

The railway union chiefs, meeting in joint conference with the committee of managers, asserted that "we insist that basic rates shall be restored on July 1, 1934, in keeping with the terms of the existing agreement."

The action of the unions was taken despite that President Roosevelt on February 14 had requested the present arrangement be continued for at least six months beyond June 30.

At present rail wages are ten per cent below the basic rates. The managers had proposed another five per cent slash.

Washington, March 17—(AP)—Reports reaching Hugh S. Johnson, NRA Administrator, were said authoritatively today to indicate that the threatened automobile strike would materialize next Wednesday unless extraordinary concessions from the management were made.

This was made known a short while after Johnson informed President Roosevelt directly that he hoped to avert strike action.

So critical does Johnson consider the situation that he postponed a contemplated trip to New York until Sunday night or Monday. He decided this was no time for him to leave his office.

The reports to Johnson came from the labor side of the controversy.

The NRA Administrator expected during the week-end to sound out further the automobile executives to see whether he could not persuade them into action that would bring peace.

AN EARLIER REPORT
Washington, March 17—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson intends to go to Detroit to supervise personally whatever worker elections result from his plan for settling the automobile strike threat.

If the leaders of the automobile industry accept his program—and Johnson expects them to agree to the fundamental ideas to avert a threatened 60,000-man strike—he will fly into action.

Unless the NRA program is met, labor leaders intend to start a strike that will last "until the government does enforce the National Recovery Act." It would be called throughout Michigan, and in St. Louis and Cleveland.

If the executives announce acceptance by Tuesday, the walk-out will be called off.

Whatever the motorcar executives may have said to the Administrator of NRA and the National Labor Board members who assisted him, they made no public promise to accept the Johnson program.

William S. Knudsen's word—given as the Executive Officer of General Motors—was that the executive committee of the Automobile Code Authority would try to work out plans in line with the Johnson program, which calls for elections and for creation immediately of an impartial board to pass on employee complaints.

TAXI DRIVERS STRIKE

New York, March 17—(AP)—A general strike of New York City taxi drivers, effective at once, was voted early today by 5,000 cheering delegates of the taxi drivers union at a meeting at St. Nicholas rink.

The strike vote was declared unanimous by the leaders. Recognition of the union was described as the principle issue at stake.

There also was some resentment over the division of a 5 cent tax which New York City, under the Tammany regime that preceded Mayor LaGuardia, assessed for each taxi.

This tax was declared illegal by the courts and the disposition of the sum collected from the public became a matter of controversy. It led to a strike of taxi drivers which started Feb. 2, and lasted a week, with scenes of disorder on Broadway and in other sections.

At today's meeting one speaker declared that he did not believe the drivers have been given more than 20 per cent of the tax collected, though, under the settlement of the February strike, they were supposed to get 50 per cent.

There are an estimated 12,000 taxi drivers in New York. How widespread the strike would be could not be determined immediately.

FIRST LADY HOME

Washington, March 17—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt returned to the Capital at 12:55 P. M. CST. today from her trip to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Woman Facing Deportation to an Alien Country

Waukegan, Ill., March 17—(AP)—An order of deportation to a country in which she has never lived today faced Mrs. Anne Larson, 27, a resident of this city since she was 5 years old.

Her husband George, whom she married in 1930, faces the same order of deportation to Norway, and was held in the Lake county jail awaiting transportation.

Larson came to America from Norway in 1924 by authority of a six months' permit. Following their marriage the couple went to Norway on their honeymoon, returning in 1931 on another six months' permit.

Mrs. Larson is a native of Finland, coming to America with her parents.

A number of citizens, including Mayor Peter Petersen, have signed a petition which was forwarded to Washington, asking that Larson and her wife be allowed to remain.

Attorney Wilfred E. Hall, representing the couple, said he would contest the legality of the order on the ground that Mrs. Larson, if compelled to go anywhere, should be returned to Finland.

2,000, Including Members of a British Consulate in Chinese Turkestan, Rumored Massacred

Moscow, March 17—(AP)—More than 2,000 persons, including members of the British consulate's staff, were reported today to have been massacred at Kashgar in Sinkiang, Chinese Turkestan, by fierce Tung-gan natives.

The massacre, dispatches from Tashkent said, came in a bloody battle between the rebels and the military of the recently-proclaimed "independent government."

The fighting ensued when Tung-gan forces swooped down upon the town and freed a garrison of Tung-gans which had been besieged in a

Rickenbacker, War Ace, Demands President Purge Official Family of "Traitorous Misadvisers" in Testimony Before Senate Postoffice Committee

Army To Resume Flying Mails on Monday Morning

Washington, March 17—(AP)—The Army will resume transporting the airmail over nine routes at 12:01 A. M. Monday.

This was announced today at the War Department after Eddie Rickenbacker, war ace, had demanded before a Senate committee that President Roosevelt "purge his official family of those traitorous elements who misadvised him" on the airmail situation.

Army transportation of the mail has been suspended for a week in response to Roosevelt's instructions that the entire air mail set-up be radically overhauled and reorganized to provide greater safety.

Ten Pilots Killed

Ten Army pilots had been killed since the government started carrying the mail. Only four of them, however, were actually engaged in mail transportation at the time.

Major General Benjamin D. Foulois, Chief of Air Corps, radioed to the War Department his recommendation that air mail flying be resumed. He received the Department's immediate approval to use his own judgment in ordering resumption of flying.

Flying will be resumed on the following routes:
New York to Chicago, Chicago to San Francisco, Boston to New York, Chicago to Dallas, Salt Lake City to San Diego, Salt Lake City to Seattle, Chicago to St. Paul, Cheyenne to Denver, and New York to Atlanta and Jacksonville.

Rising to his feet after reading a prepared statement to the Senate Postoffice committee, Rickenbacker said: "I believe I have earned my heritage to citizenship and I want in fairness to the Chief Executive to make a few remarks."

"The had advice of a few," he said, "has caused President Roosevelt to act contrary to American principles to such a degree that millions have begun to question his judgment just when we are on the verge of pulling out of this depression."

Urged Commission
Invited along with Charles A. Lindbergh and other famous fliers, to give the committee his views on the administration's permanent airmail legislation, Rickenbacker previously had recommended establishment of a new federal commission to regulate private commercial flying.

Rickenbacker called the loss to the aircraft industry by cancellation of the mail contracts "incidental."

"The important thing," he said, "is the doubt raised in the minds of many whether many of these agencies that have done such good work—NRA, CWA and others—whether they may prove to be as big a mistake as the cancellation."

Chairman McCarran of the committee interposed at this point and said:

"I have to ask you not to attack the President or to make a political speech. In fairness to the committee and to the President you should confine yourself to the bill."

Rickenbacker stood quietly for a moment and then sat down.

"He's not making an attack on the President," Senator Logan (D. Ky.) said, "and I think he should be allowed to continue."

Rickenbacker, however, said he had "nothing further to say."

Two Mills Per Pound
Under Rickenbacker's plan, the Postmaster General would place mail on any lines receiving certificates of necessity and convenience from the federal regulatory board.

He suggested that payment be on the basis of two mills per pound mile up to 250 pounds average load per airplane and one mill per pound mile for all those above this.

fortress by troops of the independent government.

A number were slain and wounded at the British consulate when government troops drew Tung-gan fire by taking refuge nearby after falling back from an unsuccessful counter attack upon the Tung-gans.

Dispatches said the beaten government troops had been strengthened by a unit with detachments under the command of the Emir of Chotan. Then, while this body occupied Jarcent, partisan groups of Uygurs and Kirgiz, fighting on the side of the independents, succeeded in cutting off Kashgar.

Perfumed books were once popular to give reading matter an added attraction in the days when agreeable odors were relatively rare.

Lindbergh Assails Airmail Action

Charging airmail contract cancellations was a verdict of guilty against commercial operators without giving them the right of trial, Charles A. Lindbergh assailed the government's course in his appearance before the Senate Airmail Investigating Committee. Extremely nervous at the start of the questioning, Lindbergh soon was at ease as he responded to the questions of Senator Kenneth McKellar, left, committee chairman.

OFFICIALS LOOK TOWARD CANADA FOR DILLINGER

Think It Is Possible He May Have Crossed Border Friday

Port Huron, Mich., March 17—(AP)—A "hot trail" marked by two more deaths snapped the eyes of authorities toward Canada today as they hunted John Dillinger, the wooden-gun desperado.

Under Sheriff Charles Cavanaugh died last night of bullet wounds he suffered when he and other police trapped and fatally wounded Dillinger's Negro pal-in-crime, Herbert Youngblood.

Before he died, Youngblood said that Dillinger had been in Port Huron Thursday night. Quickly there came a report that Dillinger had crossed the St. Clair river from Port Huron to Sarnia, Ont. in a rowboat with two Indians.

May Be in Canada
This was unconfirmed, but authorities were impressed with the possibility that Dillinger, if he is this near the border, might try to get across it. Police on both sides kept close watch, although Canadian officials at Sarnia expressed confidence last night that Dillinger hadn't been able to enter their country.

Other reports said that Dillinger who escaped with Youngblood from the Crown Point, Ind., jail in a manner that startled the country, had been "sighted" near Marysville Airport, north of Port Huron, inquiring for a plane.

Three police squads sped there. Lieut. Don Leonard of the State Police said, however, that he doubted Youngblood's story that Dillinger came to Port Huron with him.

SEEN AT MORRIS, ILL?

Morris, Ill., March 17—(AP)—A man, who witnesses said resembled John Dillinger, fugitive desperado, and a companion stopped here today shortly after daybreak and asked for directions to Chicago and Aurora.

Silas Erickson reported being stopped by the pair riding in a light coach as he was enroute to work. Erickson described the driver as a slight young man about 20 years old. Seated beside him was a man with his hat pulled low over his eyes, and Erickson and several companions said that from the side he resembled pictures of the escaped gangster.

After getting directions the car started off at high speed.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Champaign, Ill., March 17—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Stearns Bennett Davis of St. Louis was dead today and her husband, Ivan Davis of Champaign, was suffering from serious injuries as a result of an automobile accident last night on route 10, east of Urbana.

The Davis automobile crashed into a coal truck. Mrs. Davis died enroute to the Champaign hospital.

Perfumed books were once popular to give reading matter an added attraction in the days when agreeable odors were relatively rare.

Bootlegging Costs Increase 40 Times

Chicago, March 17—(AP)—For bootlegging in the old days, Daniel Caper might have paid a $50 fine. Today, for bootlegging to CWA workers, he would be fined $500.

Failing to register a still—$500.
Failing to show a distillery sign—$500.
Manufacturing without a license—$500.
Possessing non-tax-paid materials—$500.

The government added $1250 for a dealer's license and charged Caper $3 in taxes on a gallon and a half of liquor on hand.

Illinois CWA officials said it marked the opening of a drive against bootlegging on CWA jobs. Their investigators arrested Caper.

MAKLEY, SECOND DILLINGER THUG, WILL GET CHAIR

Convicted of Murder of Lima, O. Sheriff in Jail Delivery

Lima, O., March 18—(AP)—Charles Makley, second member of the notorious John Dillinger gang to face a charge of murdering Sheriff Jess Barber, today was convicted without a recommendation of mercy by a jury of 11 men and one woman. The verdict makes mandatory a sentence of death in the electric chair.

A similar verdict was given a week ago to Harry Pierpont, named as the trigger-man in the slaying, which was committed last Oct. 12 when members of the gang freed Dillinger from the Allen county jail here.

With several batteries of machine guns manned by National Guardsmen commanding all approaches, Makley and Pierpont now are prisoners in the jail, as is Russell Clark, who will be brought to trial on the same charge later.

The special precautions to prevent a delivery of the trio have been maintained ever since they were brought here. Since Dillinger's recent escape from the jail at Crown Point, Ind., the guards have been increased several times.

Paroled Double Murderer Is Dead

Pittsfield, Ill., Mar. 17—(AP)—Fred Mink, 32, who was found guilty of a second murder the day he was sentenced for a first, died last night after a heart attack. He had been at liberty for 14 years on parole, and was a farmer. For climbing a tree and shooting his stepmother, while she sat at the table at their home, Mink was given a life sentence. The same day a jury convicted him of murdering Samuel N. Harris.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

PUBLIC MEETING

The Dixon Labor League will hold a public meeting at the Woodman Hall Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, to which all laboring men and women are invited. Several political speakers will be present.

LICENSED TO WED

The following marriage licenses have been issued by County Clerk Fred G. Dimick: Charles K. Willett and Miss Florence C. Wilson, both of Dixon; Paul F. Warner and Miss Vivian L. Baxter both of Rockford.

STOP GRASS FIRE

The fire department was summoned to Steele avenue and Third street yesterday afternoon when a grass fire had started on the Reynolds Wire Co. property. The fire was extinguished without damage to the property.

TRUCKMEN TO MEET

A meeting of the Agricultural Truckmen's Assn. will be held at the city hall here Monday beginning at 9:30 o'clock. The request for the use of the building, telephoned from Springfield, did not state the purpose of the meeting.

ONE OTHER SURVIVOR

In announcing the passing of Charles W. Steel, Civil War veteran at his home in Oregon last week, it was stated that he was the last surviving member of the 34th Illinois Infantry, which was recruited from the vicinity of Grand Detour, Pennsylvania Corners and Pine Creek. Mrs. Charles N. Hoagland of Elgin has stated that her father, Willis Ray, 95 years of age, who is living at Elkhorn, Wis. was a member of the regiment.

SEEK AGREEMENT

Dixon merchants who have supplied tools and equipment for the various Civil Works Administration projects met at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday to discuss measures whereby some method of payment could be agreed upon. A committee consisting of H. Y. Massey, W. H. Ware and W. V. Slover was appointed to confer with CWA officials. Conferences were held yesterday afternoon in an effort to expedite the payment of the claims at an early date.

BULLETIN

Washington, March 17—(AP)—The House today agreed to vote on passage of the Bankhead compulsory cotton control Monday.

The agreement was reached after Representative Parker (D. Ga.) withdrew his effort to force a vote today.

Chairman Jones (D. Tex.) of the Agriculture Committee, also sought at first to force a vote today but because of the absence of so many members finally obtained consent of the House for the vote Monday.

Washington, March 17—(AP)—Predicting that what has been proposed for the cotton raiser will soon be asked for the producer of every other agricultural commodity Representative Dirksen (R. Ill.) today declared the middlewestern farmer would soon "have to take out a license to raise a hog."

"If the Illinois farmer knew what was behind the Bankhead bill," Dirksen said, "there would doubtless be a deluge of protesting mail."

"It is generally understood that an amendment has already been drafted to do the same thing for corn, wheat and other basic commodities. A certain production of corn will be determined that will take care of our needs and get rid of the surplus. This total will be allocated to the various states such as Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, and others in proportion to their total production for several years back. It will be divided among the various counties and then among the various farmers."

Complex System
"Each farmer must take application for the amount he may produce for commercial purposes and a tax will be imposed to see that he does not sell beyond his allotted amount. There will be a complex system of checks and seals and forms to go with it and if he violates the provisions of such a compulsory corn or wheat or hog production program, he will be faced with a stiff fine or imprisonment or both, if convicted."

"Whether such a program will be adopted, depends upon the outcome of the Bankhead cotton bill in the House and Senate. If it

More Activity on Northwestern Road

Indications that the Chicago & Northwestern railroad may increase its crews through this territory is contained in an announcement that the former schedule has again been adopted and crews will now operate from Chicago to Clinton, Ia., on the Galena division. Until recently the crews have been operating from Chicago to Boone, Ia.

Business on the railroad is increasing, it is reported, and the shortening of the runs and placing the crews on the former schedule would result in additional train crews being called back within a short time, it is presumed.

Dixon Man to Fight Criminal Charge in LaSalle County

(Telegraph Special Service)
Ottawa, Ill., Mar. 17—Stephen S. F. Knege, Dixon insurance agent, under indictment on a bill charging that he performed an illegal operation on a LaSalle girl, plans to contest the charge, he indicated yesterday afternoon when he was arraigned before Judge Robert E. Larkin in the circuit court. Knege received copies of the indictment without entering a plea. He informed the court that he intended retaining an attorney to represent him but stated that he was not prepared to enter the appearance of his attorney at this time. He was returned to the county jail unable to furnish the bond of $15,000 under which he is held.

Steamer Returned and Docked: Fugitive May Stay Aboard

BULLETIN

Athens, March 17—(AP)—The probability that Mrs. Samuel Insull will accompany her fugitive husband when he makes another dash to escape United States Justice was seen tonight.

It was learned the couple's intimate friend, Mme. Couyoumoglou, Greek wife of a Baghdad date merchant, was preparing baggage to take aboard the freighter Malotis on which Mrs. Insull and lawyers were conferring with the former Chicago utilities operator.

Athens, March 17—(AP)—The erstwhile "Old Fox" of American finance, Samuel Insull, Sr., who created international complications by 18 months of dodging American authorities who seek him for trial on embezzlement charges, was returned to Greece today.

After 75 hours of escape from Greek surveillance, the S. S. Malotis was returned to the harbor at Piraeus at 7:15 P. M. (12:15 P. M. CST).

The Harbor Master and Chief Alien Officer immediately boarded the vessel and told the aged fugitive that he had to get out of Greece again.

They told him he might even go on the same vessel if he cared to but he had to go within 24 hours.

May Not Leave Boat

Authorities indicated that they did not believe he would disembark from the vessel at all, but might head out again across the Mediterranean in an attempt to seek refuge from the United States Federal warrants awaiting him.

Shortly after the harbor authorities boarded the vessel, Mrs. Insull, accompanied by two lawyers went aboard the old freighter.

They immediately talked to Insull.

Mrs. Insull said before she left for Piraeus that her husband would commit suicide if turned over to the American officials.

May Leave Tonight

M. Avelaslos, Allan Control Director, declared:

"The chances that he will not land are 99 out of 100."

It was Avelaslos who boarded the dingy to row out to the freighter and inform Insull of the government's 24-hour time limit.

The director added:

"It is very probable that he will leave on the same ship tonight for the same destination after he consults his lawyer."

MARTIN SLEPT IN CELL

Toronto, Ont., March 17—(AP)—Martin J. Insull, his last recourse gone, waited in a common cell today for American police to come and get him.

The brother and associate of Samuel J. Insull in a vast utilities network lost an appeal to the Supreme Court yesterday. Chief Justice Sir William Mcleod ruled that he must be extradited to the United States to face trial in Chicago for embezzlement and larceny.

Deprived of his most cherished consolation, a blackened pipe, Insull was lodged in a cell. Last night the once powerful utilities man slept on a prison cot, rough blankets covering metal springs.

In Washington the Justice Department indicated it is waiting the result of an Appellate Court issue in Illinois before pressing extradition proceedings against Insull.

OFFERED REFUGE?

Athens, March 17—(AP)—The Newspaper Ethnos said today that Rumania, through a decree by King Carol, has granted Samuel Insull permission to live for five years in Galati, a city on the Danube in eastern Rumania.

REPORT DENIED

Bucharest, March 17—(AP)—Reports from Athens that Samuel Insull has received permission to settle at Galati were denied today. An official said no better welcome awaited the American fugitive in Rumania than elsewhere.

Young Memphis Couple, Their Two Small Children, and Guest in Home, Perish in Fire Today

Memphis, Tenn., March 17—(AP)—A young couple perished with their two small children and the wife's unmarried sister when fire trapped them in an upstairs apartment in a residential section of Memphis early today.

Earl R. Hammond, 27; his wife, Auba Kay Hammond, 28; Earl Hammond, Jr., aged three; baby Hammond, a 12-day old unnamed baby girl, and Miss Kate Kay, 20, of Anacoco, La., a sister of Mrs. Hammond, died from burns or suffocation.

Hammond died trying to save his little son. Mrs. Hammond lost her life while trying to rescue her infant daughter. Portions of the bodies found in the charred ruins of the three-room upstairs apartment gave mute evidence of the heroic efforts of the parents.

Escape was denied the five by flames that engulfed the stairway

CWA ENGINEER IS HELD AFTER AUTO ACCIDENT

Earl Stewart Accused of Reckless Driving Friday Evening

Joseph Ranicke, aged 66, residing at 1534 North Monticello street, Chicago, is a patient at the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital, suffering from a fractured knee cap and injuries to the head and chest which he sustained in an automobile crash about 9 o'clock last night near the Loveland bridge on the Lincoln Highway, west of the Borden condorsary property. Mr. Ranicke with his son Tony, were driving west, enroute to Iowa to visit relatives, when their car was struck by a machine driven by Earl Stewart, 715 Lincoln avenue, this city, a CWA engineer.

The elder Ranicke sustained the most serious injuries, his son and Stewart escaping with only minor bruises. State Highway Officers Edward Mahan of this city and Rex Flach of Amboy were summoned to the scene of the accident and had the elder Ranicke removed to the hospital. Stewart was placed under arrest by the officers and taken before Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson, where a charge of reckless driving was preferred. He furnished bond in the sum of $500 last evening and the hearing was continued until 10 o'clock this morning.

Magistrate Simonson this morning continued the hearing until March 26. Stewart furnishing a bond of $100. An agreement was reached whereby the hospital expenses and medical services will be paid and the amount of damage to the Chicago car will be determined at the later hearing. Both cars were considerably damaged by the force of the crash and were hauled to local garages.

At the hospital today it was reported that Ranicke was resting very comfortably but would remain at the hospital for several days. Other members of his family arrived in Dixon this morning and were present at the hearing.

Colored Woman at Age of 108 Hides Pension: Forgets

Chicago, March 17—(AP)—Because Mrs. Minty McGinty, said by her daughter to be 108 years old, hides her pension checks and then forgets their hiding place, her 68-year-old daughter, Mrs. Alice Adair, today was appointed guardian of the aged colored woman.

Mrs. McGinty receives a monthly check for $36 from the government because her husband, William, who died in 1899, served with the Union forces in the Civil War.

Outside of court Mrs. McGinty said she had not yet reached what she considered a ripe old age.

"My mammy, who was an Indian, was 120 years old when she died," she explained, "and I knew a woman who lived to be 200."

PRIVATE LOANS BY RFC DOOMED FOR TIME BEING

Provision Set Aside for Further Consideration Today

Washington, March 17—(AP)—The Senate Banking committee today approved the bill extending RFC powers, but eliminated the provisions for private loans and financing foreign trade for consideration as a separate measure.

The committee split the broad bill into two measures, putting the proposed power for loans to industry and to finance exports aside for further consideration, but approving the other bill which would facilitate railroad reorganizations and extend RFC authority in other directions.

The action was taken in a long executive session at which the bill was explained in detail by Jesse J. Jones, chairman of the corporation.

Chairman Fletcher said the proposed power for loans to industry had been set aside for future consideration along with the Federal Reserve Board plan for creation of intermediate credit banks for the same purpose.

He said he had been informed the Reserve Board would submit to him today a bill providing for the creation of such a system.

SHOWDOWN ON SILVER BILLS COMES MONDAY

Speaker Rainey Broke With President on this Procedure

Washington, March 17—(AP)—Treasury opposition to a silver program drew resentment from champions of the white metal in the House today as they prepared for a showdown Monday on silver legislation.

Both the Dies and Feinsinger bills will come up in the House Monday under a slated suspension announced by Speaker Rainey.

Under suspension a two-thirds vote would be necessary for passage.

Representative Martin (D. Colo.) who has been working on coordination of House silver interests said today he believed a good majority was assured and there was a chance for the necessary two-thirds vote.

"If we get a good majority we probably can bring a silver bill in the regular way," said Martin. "Under that procedure I believe there is sufficient strength to pass silver legislation at this session."

Martin introduced a resolution requesting Secretary Morgenthau to provide the names of persons interested in "silver speculation."

This referred to published statements that the Treasury has been making an investigation into silver holdings of advocates of silver legislation and has found them "not entirely disinterested."

Martin contended "the expression of these views by the Secretary of the Treasury is prejudicial to silver legislation now pending in Congress."

Suspended French Official Cut Own Throat: in Scandal

Fontainebleau, France, March 17—(AP)—Troops, out at dawn on the artillery range here, found Emile Blanchard, a high official of the Ministry of Agriculture, lying in a pool of his own blood.

He had cut his throat with a knife, found clutched in his hand. He may live.

Blanchard was suspended from his office when it was revealed that he was paid to serve on two boards of directors of companies organized by Alex. Stavisky, the notorious swindler who organized the Bayonne pawnshop among other ventures.

Polish General Not Worried Over War in Europe Immediately

Chicago, March 17—(AP)—General Josef Haller, retired head of the Polish Army, criticized principles in Hitler's book, "My Struggle."

Arriving here to raise funds for disabled veterans, Haller asserted: "Hitler will fall in his effort to use the human beings of Germany like he would the animals in the barnyard and the rodents and vermin of the laboratories. One cannot breed people like a stock raiser does animals. What will become of Hitlerism? Only the future will tell."

He said he saw no probability of war in Europe at the present, asserting that the armies were unprepared for it.

GOVT. TO BUY HOGS

Washington, March 17—(AP)—Government purchasing of hogs for relief purposes will be resumed on Monday.

The Department of Agriculture said purchases would be made under contracts signed with meat packers early this month which gave the government a privilege of buying up to 15,000 head per day, or any part of that number, according to relief needs.

The new schedule of buying probably will call for purchases of about 7500 head per day.

Most of the animals will be bought in Chicago and St. Louis with the remainder distributed among other principal markets.

Auto Rackets Aim of Gigantic Raid by Chicago Police

Chicago, Mar. 17—(AP)—Two hundred detectives today swept through the city, raiding scores of garages, insurance offices and other business places in the first step of a campaign against all forms of automobile racketeering.

The drive which was directed at automobile thefts, the frequency of which has caused Chicago automobile theft insurance rates to rise to the highest in the country.

The raiding squads were under the direction of Capt. Daniel Gilbert, Chief Investigator for State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, and included city and State's Attorney's police. Courtney said he expected more than 300 persons to be brought to his office for questioning as a result of the raids.

Courtney said he hopes to bring about a reduction in automobile thefts and a consequent lowering of their insurance rates.

Only one point remains to be established before the formal report is prepared and agreed upon. The committee still wants to know definitely who made the changes in specifications that reduced the speed, altitude and range requirements.

A poll of the Rogers Military Affairs sub-committee, which is inquiring into army expenditures since 1928, established this today as clearly the majority opinion.

A joint finding now under consideration is that Army officers possibly attempted to discredit competitive bidding for the huge aviation purchases. Committeemen have some testimony from Woodring on this score.

Only one point remains to be established before the formal report is prepared and agreed upon. The committee still wants to know definitely who made the changes in specifications that reduced the speed, altitude and range requirements.

PRIDE looks back upon its past deed, and calculating with nicety what it has done, whereas humility looks to that which is before and dis-covering how much ground remains to be trodden, it is active and vigilant. Having gained one height, pride looks down with complacency on what is beneath it; humility looks up to a higher and yet higher elevation.

Wilson-Willett Wedding Charming Event of Today

A simple but pretty wedding ceremony was solemnized this morning at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's father, Angier Wilson, 317 N. Galena avenue, when his elder daughter, Miss Florence Caroline Wilson became the bride of Charles K. Willett, also of Dixon.
The impressive Presbyterian service was performed by Rev. J. Franklin Young in the presence of eighteen guests, relatives and intimate friends. There were no attendants. The bride was most attractive in a dark blue ensemble. Following the ceremony and congratulations a buffet breakfast was served. The charmingly appointed table in the dining room was decorated with a bouquet of sweet peas and the wedding cake held a place of honor there.
The rooms in the Wilson home were gay with decorations of roses and daffodils.
Mr. and Mrs. Willett left on a brief honeymoon, expecting to be home Monday.
Mr. Willett is project engineer for the Lee County Civil Works administration. His bride has been employed for several years in the office of the county superintendent of highways, Fred Leake. Mr. Willett is an industrious and genial young man and Mrs. Willett is a charming young woman. Both young people have the best wishes of many friends for happiness. For the present they will make their home at 317 N. Galena avenue.

8th Annual Garden Show Will Be Wonder Beauty Bower

For sixteen years Navy Pier has stood on the lake front in Chicago without painting or repairs. Now, as one of the CWA projects, Navy Pier is being entirely transformed. The steel girders supporting the roof have been given a coat of aluminum paint. The broken windows have been replaced. The walls have been painted and the entire pier will present a clean, fresh appearance when the eighth annual Garden and Flower Show of The Garden Club of Illinois opens on Saturday, April 7.

The show, the largest of its kind in America, will occupy 100,000 square feet of continuous floor space, one vast room a third of a mile long. Eighty-five garden clubs throughout Illinois are making magnificent exhibits and the commercial growers, including the Allied Florists, will bring huge pyramids of carnations, dozens of cut roses, sheafs of lilies, pansies and sweet peas. The Pot Plant Growers Association will display hundreds of potted tulips, jonquils, daffodils, hyacinths, geraniums and hydrangeas. The Illinois Nurserymen's Association has forced numerous trees and shrubs for use in landscaping the "Model House," which is to be their contribution to the flower show.

Tons of peat moss will provide the foundation for more than fifty small gardens, among the largest of which will be those of the West Park and the Lincoln Park Boards. Thousands of bulbs and plants are being nurtured toward an early blooming in the great hot houses of these parks.

Warren Wright, whose gardens at Golf, Illinois are widely known, is exhibiting for the first time under his own name in The Chicago Flower Show.
Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, long an enthusiastic supporter of this great educational and civic project will again build a garden using the finest blooms from her greenhouses.

The Forest Preserve District, under the direction of A. C. Kersgard, will build a "Bit of Cook County Forest Preserve" with a brook, many trees and a small waterfall the chief features of this exhibit.
The Morton Arboretum at Lisle, Illinois, a living memorial to the fourth of Arbor Day, Mr. Morton, built and maintained by his son, Joy Morton, will build another outstanding exhibit.

Mrs. Anson Cameron will again make a display of the grounds she has raised upon the Stevens estate at Delavan, Wisconsin. The display of grounds in the show last year did much to revive interest in these vines which were always a necessary part of old fashioned gardens.
The National Association of Gardeners, North Shore Branch and the North Shore Horticultural Society are bringing the rarest and finest blooms from the greenhouses on the large estates around Chicago. They will compete for cash prizes on specimen plants and these men who are responsible for the success and beauty of the estates upon which they are employed, are among the most enthusiastic of the exhibitors in the show.

Katharine Hepburn And Chas. Laughton Take First Honors

Hollywood, March 17—(AP)—The court of film royalty opened its doors today to Katharine Hepburn and Charles Laughton.
By the acclaim of their fellow workers they were chosen last night at a banquet of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences as the actress and the actor whose work was the best upon the screen in 1933.

But it was a strange coronation, for neither the queen, nor the king was present to wear the crown. Laughton was in England making a picture and Miss Hepburn was in New York.

Second place among the actresses went to May Robson for her part in "Lady for a Day," and third to Diana Wynward of "Cavalcade," the picture which was chosen as the best production.
Paul Muni of "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang" was second to Laughton among the actors, while Leslie Howard placed third for his performance in "Berkeley Square."

Frank Lloyd was given the award for best direction for his work in "Cavalcade." Frank Capra was second, "Lady for a Day," and George Cukor, third, "Little Women."

Cleanliness Basis of Good Grooming

By ALICE HART
Good grooming, like intelligent child training, begins at home. You can't expect a bi-monthly visit to the hairdresser and manicurist to keep you perfectly groomed. No amount of beauty treatments in salons can give that fastidious charm which comes only from the attention you give daily to your grooming.
For instance, nothing is more essential to beauty than the daily bath. And more and more women are getting into the two-day-a-bath—a warm, soapy bath at night and then an invigorating cool shower in the morning. But, whatever your schedule, remember that cleanliness begets charm and there fore beauty.
Well kept finger nails are also necessary for perfect grooming. Nails need not only a complete manicure once a week, but daily attention. One or two whisks with the file will smooth rough edges and a dab of cuticle oil, every now and then, will keep cuticle smooth and soft. When part of the polish wears off one nail, remove what is left and put on a new coat. Bothersome? Yes, certainly. But in the long run you'll reap your reward.

Raising Money For Milk Fund

The Lee County Chapter of American War Mothers gave to the Dixon Labor League a quilt top for a benefit milk fund as there is great need of milk for children of the unemployed, and as the league fund is gone, it is hoped that those who have received benefit from the fund before and can now do so, will help in swelling the same. This quilt is being finished by War Mothers. Ladies of the Labor League put your time in the box and help the children to have milk.

Mrs. Wm. Savage, Mrs. Theodore Miller and Mrs. Ed Marquet formed a quilting party at the home of Mrs. Margaret Potter on Thursday afternoon.

STEDE POPULAR FOR HAT AND SCARF

PARIS—(AP)—Suede has blossomed out in the spring fashion garden in new ways. One designer takes bright green suede, makes a little hat and Ascot scarf of it and adds them to a black and gray shadow plaid suit. Another uses orange suede for a scarf to brighten a beige tweed sports coat, and another adds dark brown suede bands to the collar of a brown street coat.

CHAPTER AC, TO MEET WITH MRS. BARLOW

Chapter AC, Illinois P. E. O. will meet at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon with Mrs. A. L. Barlow, 317 Galena Avenue.

Luncheon Honored Mrs. Jas. L. Riley

The Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club entertained with a 1 o'clock bridge luncheon at the Rice home, in honor of Mrs. James L. Riley, formerly Eleanor C. Pells, whose marriage to James Leland Riley, of Lancaster, Mo., took place Saturday evening at the Presbyterian church. Following the luncheon, bridge was enjoyed at Cedar Crest Lodge, the home of Mrs. Frank Hoyle, where the tally cards were lovingly brided. The first prize at bridge was won by Mrs. Riley and she was also presented with an honor prize. The consolation prize was awarded Mrs. Don Sunday. During the afternoon a beautiful walnut coffee table was presented to Mrs. Riley, with best wishes for future happiness.

Buffet Luncheon For Mrs. S. Franklin

Mrs. Edward Schott residing north of Prairieville entertained Friday with a charming buffet luncheon, honoring Mrs. Susie Franklin of Penrose, formerly of Prairieville, who is leaving soon to make her home in Portland, Oregon. There were ten guests present and a happy afternoon was spent by everyone. After luncheon the ladies held a handkerchief shower for their friend and she received many pretty ones which will remind her of the delightful occasion and of her friends, all of whom wished her happiness and success in her new home in the west.

Stewardship Lunches Are Enjoyed

The annual study of Stewardship by the members of the Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society was held in two sessions which proved very pleasant and profitable. One on Thursday, Mar. 15, was held at the home of Mrs. W. C. Durkin. And the other on Thursday, March 15th, was held at the home of Mrs. J. F. Young. At 12:30 each day the group enjoyed a picnic luncheon together and this was followed by the reading and discussion of the book, "This Grace Also," by John E. Simpson.

HIGH SCHOOL PTA TO MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the high school P. T. A. will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 in the high school. The program is to be furnished by the Juniors. Mr. Frazer is to talk to the parents of the Seniors and they are requested to make an effort to be present.

PRESBYTERIAN GUILD TO MEET TUESDAY EVE

The Presbyterian Guild will meet Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Miss Frances Patrick, 314 Peoria avenue.

Wedding Anniversary for Roosevelts

New York, March 17—(AP)—Twenty-nine years ago today the Franklin D. Roosevelts were married, while green flags fluttered and the sons of Ireland marched.
President Theodore Roosevelt came to New York to give the bride away and see an Irish turn-out that rivalled the O'Connell parade of '74, the greatest Irish parade New York had seen.

Anna Eleanor Roosevelt had chosen St. Patrick's Day for her wedding so that her uncle, "President Teddy," could attend. Newspapers next day gave the wedding front page play. One paper called it "a Roosevelt day," and headlined: "Good St. Patrick plays second fiddle for once."

A house on Seventy-Sixth street, the home of Mrs. Henry Parish, was the scene of the wedding. Two rooms had been thrown together and decked with green. A hundred guests saw the bride come down from the second floor on the arm of "President Teddy."

PLAN QUIET DINNER

Washington, March 17—(AP)—Married 29 years, President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt plan to celebrate the anniversary tonight with a White House dinner.

Present will be the President's mother, Mrs. James D. Roosevelt, and his daughter, Mrs. Anna Dall. The President's wife was expected at the White House in the afternoon from her trip to Puerto Rico.

John Roosevelt, youngest son of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, arrived today from his school at Groton, Mass., to join in the family party. John celebrated his 18th birthday this week.

MARIAN MARTIN ACCENTS NECK AND SLEEVES
Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart Included.
Pattern 9953

Necklines and sleeves make front page fashion news. The most popular neckline is the one with a scarf treatment, and of sleeves, the raglan type is enormously chic—and the easiest to fit, too. Today's model is ultra smart because it features both these ideas. The scarf is drawn through open seams and tied in a huge bow in front or to the side—or graceful tie ends as shown in the small sketch. The sleeves are slashed for added interest—and may be worn flared when cuffs are omitted. Effective in a silk or cotton print with the scarf of contrast.

Pattern 9953 may be ordered in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric and 1 1/2 yards 3 1/2 inch ribbon.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern.

Be sure to write very plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.
ORDER YOUR COPY OF THE NEW MARIAN MARTIN SPRING PATTERN BOOK—a practical Spring sewing guide, offering stunning models for all occasions for grown-ups, juniors and youngsters, and for the woman who needs slenderizing lines. PRICE OF NEW BOOK, FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER FOR TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

DO THE PLANNERS KNOW IT?

In his letter ordering suspension of carrying of the mail by army flyers to the extent that fatalities shall end, President Roosevelt said to Secretary Dern:

"This action (the original order to the army) was taken on the definite assurance given me that the army air corps could carry the mail."

That, we believe, is the way the country has understood it from the beginning. The President now has reached the conclusion that he was given erroneous information.

Then there is the bill now in congress providing stringent regulations of stock exchanges. This bill is credited to, or charged against, the radical group in the President's administrative household. When it was the topic of a hearing before a committee, Assistant Secretary Dickinson of the department of commerce figuratively tore it to pieces. These people all are a part of the same administration, and the rift came before the President in the natural course of events. The President laughed it off and said he had not even read the bill, which was before the committee and was regarded generally as an administrative measure until Dickinson told what he thought of it.

Yet there are those who would charge newspapers and outspoken persons with obstructing the President's program if they oppose the stock exchange bill—which the President has not even read.

Then there was a rather important comment in the President's last broadcast:

"I am always a little amused and perhaps at times a little saddened—and I think the American people feel the same way—by those few writers and speakers who proclaim tearfully either that we are now committed to communism and collectivism or that we have adopted facism and a dictatorship."

The President's attitude would be amusing were it not so serious a matter. Reporters repeatedly assert that the "young liberals" say they are carrying on a "bloodless revolution." Is there any reason for American citizens to be concerned about a revolution being carried on by the power of men not elected? Or is it a mere matter for amusement as they undertake to determine, as one step follows another, whether these professors who influence things in Washington are bent more toward communism than toward facism? Is it a mere matter of amusement if the people conjecture as to their goal?

While the President talks smoothly the professors are doing things. They are writing the bills that are passed by congress. The President doesn't do it. There aren't enough hours in the day for the President to do all the things that are credited nominally to the white house. These things are being done by other persons, and they are numerous.

The situation is such as to remind one of Russia. The soviet government says it is not engaged in propaganda, but while it speaks, the Third Internationale, which is intertwined with the government, is doing the work.

The President may have no idea of carrying us through to the soviet form or the fascist form, but do the planners in his household know it?

For instance, there is a high school text-book now at hand, the product of Professor Tugwell who commonly is credited with doing the economic thinking for the President. We do not know yet whether the text will be ordered into the schools of the country. Ultimately we may expect such an order. This man who does the economic thinking for the administration tells the high school students:

"There is necessity of eliminating private profit-seeking from industry and business."

Only one plan other than the profit system has been undertaken, and that is the Russian plan.

So, while the President is saddened because people suspect we are under way to the Russian system, his chief economist is clearing the way for such a movement in the United States through instruction of the students.

The administration can not avoid becoming suspected according to the company it keeps.

The President may not desire a collectivist setup, but have his planners found it out?

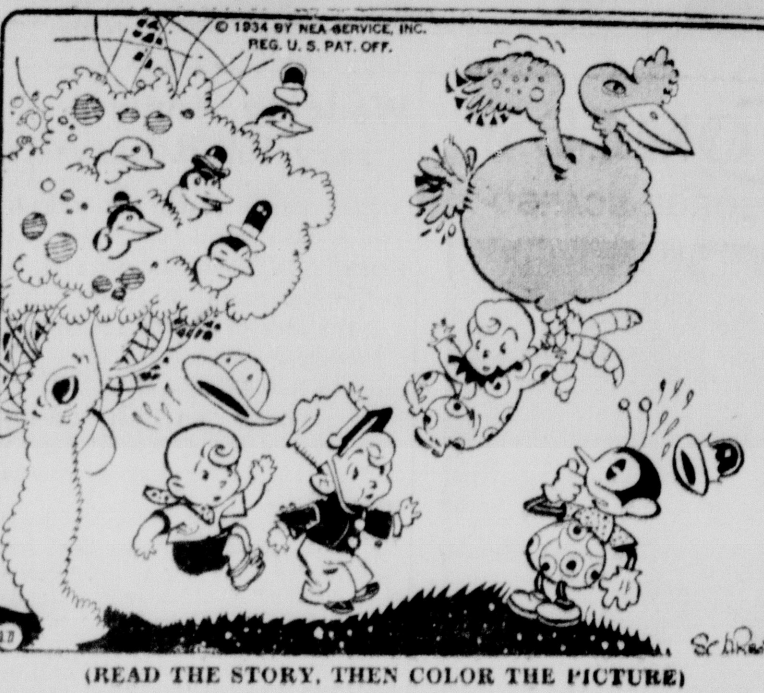

There is no chance of revolution there (Mexico). The people are contented.—Fernando Gonzalez Roa, Mexican ambassador to U. S.

Financial and military interests deliberately are planning a war in Europe.—Emma Goldman, noted anarchist.

I think it would be a lot more exciting to leap from an airplane with a parachute than to demonstrate animals.—Clyde Beatty, animal trainer.

I made a little slip and I paid for it. I did my time and I don't feel bitter toward anyone.—Ralph Capone, brother of Al.

My mind is like a judge's—just a perfect blank.—Clarence Darrow, as he was appointed chairman of NRA Board of Review.

"Aw gee, the balloon bird looks forlorn. A big hole in its side is torn," said Duncy. "It's flopped to the ground. All of the air came out."

"The other bird had lots of gall to spoil my ride and make me fail. I am glad I wasn't injured. I am a lucky lad, no doubt."

"Well, now what are we going to do?" asked wee Coppy. "I just wish I knew a way to fix the big balloon bird up so he could fly again."

"A puncture patch would do the trick, and I can put them on real slick. One time I owned a bike. I used to fix it, now and then."

Then Nature Nick cried, "Wait right here. I will shortly fill you up with cheer. Back in my little home I have what you are wishing for."

"We'll see if little Coppy can fix up the bird." Then, off he ran. Wee Duncy cried, "Hurrah! I guess some more rides are in store for us."

It wasn't very long till Nick was running back. "Say, this is slick!" said Coppy, as he eyed the patch that his kind old friend had found.

"Now, everybody stand aside, and watch me while this patching is tried. I'll bet that I will soon have the balloon bird off the ground."

He worked away a little while, and Goldy broke into a smile. "My you are all fingers," she exclaimed. "Here, let me lend a hand."

And so the two tots worked away and soon the bunch heard Goldy say, "At last the task is finished, and it really looks just grand."

The funny bird began to rise, when blown to twice its former size. "Hey catch it," shouted wee Coppy. Duncy grabbed it by the feet.

He promptly sailed up in the air, which gave the Tines quite a scare. Poor Duncy yelled, "Oh stop me. With an accident I'll meet."

(Duncy lands in a strange place in the next story.)

else, he did always the things which were pleasing to God. Strange to say, only eight of his prayers are recorded, and all but one of these are brief. Two of them are quotations from the Psalter. Most of them are only single sentences. One is a cry of agony, one an exclamation of trust, one a plea for his enemies, one an ascription of glory to God, one a cry for deliverance, two were outbursts of thanksgiving. Seven of the prayers contain an average of about twenty words. Only the prayer in the upper room contains more than a score of sentences. All of them are alike in the sweet and trustful spirit which breathes through them, and all of them address God as Father. The prayer in the upper room is the real Lord's Prayer. The prayer recommended in the first and third Gospels is the disciples' prayer.

Prayer: Our Father who art in heaven, teach us to pray more as Jesus prayed. Give us more of his freedom and his joy. May our heart burn within us as we converse with Thee about the high things of the spirit, and may our entire life be continuous communion with Thee. Amen.

Cold Cream Away Back
The cold cream invented by the Roman physician, Galen, almost 1,800 years ago is not very different from the modern formula.

rounding his physical theories is put there by self-appointed press agents who seek to cloak the professor in a mythical haze of misunderstanding, thus making him a part of another and a stranger world.

Not that the theory of relativity, for example, is as simple as ABC. No, not that! "The speed of light, multiplied by the square of the volume equals the atomic energy imprisoned in a body" doesn't mean a whole lot to people like us. But why should the layman bother about the mathematical details?

In Einstein's own words, "relativity merely denotes that it is impossible for the physicist to apply definite standards of measurement in space without fixing their relation to a definite point in time. Time is the fourth dimension."

ALBERT EINSTEIN
Every once in a while Professor Einstein lands in the newspapers. Of course he doesn't often (if ever) balance himself on two legs of a chair atop the Empire State building, but he has other qualities that make for good newspaper copy.

For instance, the other day he wrote about the superiority of American schools. He said, in effect, that our schools are far ahead of those on the Continent for the simple reason that they teach the student to think for himself instead of forcing him to rely on cabinet-file memorizing of rules.

And the professor is right. In fact, he is practically always right. His scientific contemporaries have come to accept his theories as facts. Time after time, when the heavens adjust themselves just right, the great physicists gather to make measurements in space in order to check up on some of Einstein's theoretical calculations. And each time the theory is correct.

Few will disagree when it is said that Einstein represents the peak of brain development in this present age, or in any of the past ages, for that matter. His ideas on government and social problems may be as sound as his recognized soundness in the realm of physics. His brain is not lop-sided, however, because when he tires of deep thinking he knows how to relax, either with his violin or at the rudder of a boat.

Yet, Einstein is greatly misunderstood. It is safe to say, though, that much of the mystery surrounding his physical theories is put there by self-appointed press agents who seek to cloak the professor in a mythical haze of misunderstanding, thus making him a part of another and a stranger world.

OF SORTSFINALS TONIGHT
IN SECTIONALS;
FRIDAY RESULTSDeKalb Meets Marshall
of Chicago in That City's Final

Chicago, March 17.—(AP)—Thornton high of Harvey, the defending champions, will meet Joliet tonight in the Joliet sectional finals of the Illinois State high school tournament, trouncing Maine of Des Plaines last night by the one-sided score of 53 to 21. Joliet whipped Mazon, 33 to 14.

Quincy ran roughshod over Kin-dershook, 43 to 11, last night and will meet Beardstown in the finals at Quincy, Springfield, another highly regarded downstate team, won a 21 to 11 verdict over Pekin, earning the right to meet Clinton, which defeated Hersman, 45 to 28.

One of the downstate choices, Herrin, was toppled by Equality, 26 to 19. Equality will meet Du-Quoin in the Murphysboro final tonight.

Sycamore Beaten
At Waukegan a strong Sycamore team went down before the Chicago public schools champions, Lane Tech, 29 to 36. Maywood won the other semi-final game there, outdistancing Libertyville, 43 to 36.

The fans at Collinsville saw a couple of breath-taking finishes in the two games last night, both of which were won by one-point margins. Zeigler got the decision over Ashley, 31 to 30, and Marion turned back a scrappy Marissa five, 30 to 29.

Lincoln and Peoria Central will be matched in the clash at Canton tonight and Urbana and Rantoul come together at Danville in a pair of games in which the winners will have to show plenty to win. DeKalb and Marshall of Chicago will meet at DeKalb.

Repro vs Kewanee
Mt. Pulaski and Charleston came through at Decatur, the Mounts coasting to a 30 to 13 triumph over Taylorville, and Charleston having plenty of trouble defeating Decatur, 18 to 16.

At Salem Mt. Vernon whipped St. Elmo, 43 to 28, and Centralia settled for a 25 to 23 count over Ashley, 31 to 30, and Marion turned back a scrappy Marissa five, 30 to 29.

Pontiac, always a good tournament town, saw Streator whip a good Peoria Manual team, 19 to 7, and Watseka licked De Pue, 32 to 25.

Other pairings tonight will bring together Freeport and Kewanee at Freeport, Longview and Champion at Mattoon and Lawrenceville and Eldorado at Mt. Carmel.

The results of the sectional tournament games last night:
At Canton
Lincoln 21; Havana 18 (over-time)
Peoria Central 20; Canton 12.

At Collinsville
Zeigler 31; Ashley 30.
Marion 30; Marissa 29.
At Danville
Rantoul 24; Potomac 12.
Urbana 23; Brocton 19.

When Babe Herman was playing with the Dodgers, Jumbo Elliott was the fat and funny man of the club. The present Cub outfielder has the following one to tell on Jumbo:

"We reported at training camp, and there was Jumbo, all 248 pounds of him. Wilbert Robinson then was our manager, and he ordered the squad to take two turns around the field to test our wind.

"That was bad news to Jumbo, who was in no condition to go the distance. But he bravely started off—and after completing about 100 feet he stopped, turned around and headed back to the bench.

"Hey, Robbie," he yelled at Wilbert, "I can't afford to weaken myself by training down too fine."

"And the funny part about it was that Robinson was so surprised he let Jumbo get away with it."

CAMBRIDGE SET NEW RECORD TO DEFEAT OXFORD

Light Blue Crew Wins
11th. Straight On Thames Today

London, March 15.—(AP)—Cambridge today swept to a four and a half length victory over Oxford in the 86th renewal of their annual eight-oared crew race and set a new record for the four and a quarter mile course of 18 minutes 3 seconds.

The light blue boatload was never extended as it swept up the muddy Thames from Mortlake to Putney to score its 11th straight victory over Oxford and its 45th of the series begun in 1829.

The new mark for the race displaced the record of 18:29 set in 1911 by one of the great Oxford crews which ruled the English rowing world for nine straight years before the war.

The time first was announced as 18:38 but a check of the watches disclosed the new record.

STENGEL FACING
TERRIBLE TASK
WITH BROOKLYN

Dodgers' New Boss Has Little New Talent of Experience

(NOTE: This is the sixth of a series of stories analyzing at first hand the 1934 prospects of major league baseball clubs.)

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)
Orlando, Fla., March 17.—(AP)—On the shortest notice that any big league manager has had in many years Charles Dillon (Casey) Stengel has also been given one of the toughest assignments of them all this season—the job of trying to rebuild and revive Brooklyn's sagging baseball fortunes.

Taking the place of Max Carey, his former boss, Stengel has inherited a sixth place club and one that finished a bad sixth at that, 17 games behind the Cardinals last season. He has had no opportunity whatever to make any advantageous deals. All the big trades were pulled off before Casey even knew he was to be nominated and elected manager of the desperate Dodgers.

"Dead Wood" Gone
With the help of General Manager Bob Quinn most of the "dead wood" which affected Brooklyn's performance under Carey last year has been eliminated. Players like Glenn Wright, Jack Quinn, Freddy Heimach, Hollis Thurston, Rosy Ryan and Babe Phelps, whether non-producers or disturbing factors, have been released along with Joe Shaute, veteran southpaw pitcher.

The decks have thus been cleared, to a certain extent, for progressive steps toward recovery, but the training camp activities so far reveal no more than three or four recruits with real promise, and the pitching prospects, to put it mildly, are uncertain. Van Lingle Mungo, still a youngster at 22, is far and away the best finger on the roster; but he will have to get a lot of help from unexpected quarters before Brooklyn can be considered anything like a factor in the pennant race.

On Brighter Side
On the brighter side of the picture, there is no doubt Brooklyn is one of the clubs figuring to benefit from the livelier ball to be used in the National League this year. The Dodgers got a lot of bad breaks in 1933, not the least of which was the fact that seasoned players like Tony Cuccinello, Joe Stripp and Hack Wilson failed to hit much more than the size of their hats. Wilson, dissatisfied with salary terms may not stay with the club, but Cuccinello and Stripp, if they stage the comeback Stengel expects, can inject a lot of driving power into the proceedings.

Among the rookies, the sensation of the first two weeks is 21-year-old Jack McCarthy, product of the Chicago semi-pro ranks, who has shown such skill around first base as to obscure the fact that Sam Leslie is the regular jobholder. It may be pre-mature, but the conviction is rampant that McCarthy is one of the "finds" of the year.

Have Chatty Catcher
Another likely recruit is Ray Berres the chatty catcher of Birmingham, who will understand the brilliant Al Lopez.

Aside from Mungo, Brooklyn must depend for starting pitchers on Owen Carroll, Walter Beck and Ray Benge, the Texas right-hander who was given until today to come to terms. They are the only experienced pitchers left on a squad that is shy of southpaws aside from Charley Perkins of Buffalo and Phil Page, the Seattle recruit. The best hurling prospect is Leslie Munns, 205 pounds of right-handed talent from St. Paul, who won 19 games last year. Others, such as Art Herring, Art Jones, Emil Leonard and Ray Lucas, did not even have imposing minor league records in 1933 so that little can be expected from them.

Johnny Frederick, the No. 1 outfielder and only regular aside from Lopez who hit over .300 last year, probably will have Danny Taylor and Ralph Boyle, obtained last season from Baltimore, as his playmates. Glenn Chapman and Len Koenecke, up from "AA" leagues and Hack Wilson are the alternate choices.

DUBLIN LED IN CELEBRATING ST.
PATRICK'S BIRTH

But Its Citizens Were Forced to Drink Toast in Milk or Tea

Dublin, March 17.—(AP)—Old Dublin led the world's Irish today in the "wearing of the green" to honor the memory of the good Saint Patrick.

The city carried on a tradition many others have all but forgotten in observing St. Patrick's Day with a big parade in the grand old style.

In the line of March were thousands of strong soldiers, including the Oriel and Dublin regiments of the New Volunteers—dressed for the first time in their new gray-green uniforms.

Eamon de Valera, president of the Executive Council of the Free State, attended high mass accompanied by his ministers at noon.

Tonight he will broadcast a message to people of Irish descent in the United States.

The traditional toast to the patron saint had to be lifted differently, since the Free State legislature ordered all public houses closed from Friday through Sunday.

Hence Irishmen here faced being forced to do their toasting with tea or milk, unless they stepped over into Ulster where there are no restrictions.

Six hundred men will arrive in Dixon tomorrow to attend the University of Scouting, a combined course of training for Scout leaders.

E. Urner Goodman, New York City, Director of Program of the National Council Boy Scouts of America, will address the entire group at the opening session at 9 A. M.

John G. Ralston, President of the Black Hawk Area Council will introduce Mr. Goodman.

After the opening addresses A. H. Lancaster, Dean, will begin the various courses by announcing the plan to be followed and rooms to be used.

Enrollment Figures
Enrollment by counties indicates a large attendance. Rockford and Winnebago, 125; Boone and McHenry, 100; Lee and Ogle, 125; Whiteside, 75. This group plus 50 outside instructors and 50 Executive Board and Council members will go to make one of the most popular meetings of its kind.

Seven individual enrollment desks and attendants will greet the students when they first enter the high school building. From this point Scout orders will usher the men to various class rooms where their dufler may be dispensed with. Then a bell sounding the opening time of the first assembly will start the school of instruction.

Dr. Gentles with a corps of certified Red Cross examiners will direct the work in first Aid. This course will be devoted to the bandaging, dressing, treatment of wounds and necessary precautions to be taken as to "What to do until the doctor comes."

Magnificent Deering Estate Open to Public

Rivaling the palaces and grounds of ancient monarchs, this magnificent $10,000,000 estate of the late James Deering, farm implement manufacturer, at Miami, Fla., is adorned by a vast mansion of white marble (shown in foreground), 300 acres of semi-tropical luxuriance, art works of fabulous value and even the bath of a Roman emperor. It nestles at the edge of Biscayne Bay, and all its splendor is shown in this remarkable air view. "Villa Viscaya" only recently was opened to the public.

TEACHERS' LACK OF UNANIMITY IS BEST WAY "OUT"

Their Failure to Agree is Welcomed by Legislators

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 17—(AP)—The suggested diversion of one-third of the gasoline taxes to school aid, which was defeated this week by the lower house of the General Assembly, was dead almost before it was introduced.

Despite administration endorsement, the gas tax diversion program was attacked on all sides—attacked by interests so many and so varied that the surprising thing was not that it met defeat but that it succeeded in obtaining the votes of 65 representatives.

Before the bill, which would take gas tax monies from cities, counties and the state, had been introduced the mere suggestion that it was contemplated resulted in an uproar.

The Illinois Municipal League, an organization of city officials, was first in the fray but was followed quickly by the Highway Users Conference, organizations of hard road contractors, concrete manufacturers, refinery interests, and the Illinois Agricultural Association.

Many Plan Its Death
One meeting held to devise methods of killing the bill was reported to have been attended by the heads or representatives of more than 12 interests.

Legislators' desks were piled high with telegrams and letters asking them to vote against the diversion.

All the opposition manifested was peculiarly effective, coming as it did, on the eve of a primary election in which nearly every representative is a candidate for re-nomination.

City officials, who but a year ago won a long battle to obtain one-third of the gas tax for municipalities, declared diversion of any part of their share would result in upsetting budgets and necessitate cancellation of contracts for street work.

I. A. A. Entered Fight
The Illinois Agricultural Association also entered the fight, claiming that any lessening of the share received by counties would delay the construction of secondary roads.

Senators and representatives of districts in which are located cement mills were active in opposing the diversion. They maintained it would result in less hard road construction and greater unemployment in their districts.

Legislators were confronted with a dilemma. To vote for the diversion might result in the active primary opposition of many of the organizations opposing it. To vote against it might result in the antagonism of the school teachers who were clamoring for aid.

The Republican minority in the House was not slow to take advantage of the confusion and oppose the program which had been suggested by the Democratic administration.

Head Opposed
Then came an apparent split in the ranks of the teachers. Noah Mason of Oglesby, president of the Illinois State Teachers' Association and a Republican member of the State Senate, who represents a district in which are located the state's largest cement mills, issued a statement opposing diversion—the program which was being sponsored by the teachers, their secretary, R. C. Moore, and their legislative committee.

This division in the ranks of the teachers' organizations provided the "out" many of the legislators were seeking.

They were enabled to comply with the demands of the diversion opponents and, at the same time, say to the teachers espousing the program that "your own organization is split on this measure, why should we vote for something the teachers themselves are not for unanimously."

Thus was diversion of gasoline taxes for school aid defeated—defeated almost before it was introduced.

Living Our Everyday Lives

WITHOUT SECURITY

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

"In some way," writes a charming reader, "you do contrive to make life a grand and glorious thing, even without security."

Precisely. If life were safe, snug and secure, it would not be grand at all, but deadly dull. It would be bereft of adventure, tame, tepid, timid, robbed of its romance, stripped of color, zest and thrill.

George Eliot wrote a story called The Lifted Veil, which makes my point sharply clear. In the story a man is shown everything that is to happen to him after three months.

In other words he has three months of life as we have it, after that he knows everything ahead of him.

No wonder he found life flat, stale, tasteless; the only interesting part of it was the uncertain three months. The rest was a bore, like seeing a moving picture and knowing every gesture to be made and every word to be uttered—just waiting for the tedious reel to unroll.

Our human life is set in a hazardous world, in which there is enough security to justify faith but not enough to do without faith.

Our faith in life, in God, in man is not blind, neither does it rise to clear knowledge. In short, it is uncertainty that makes life worth living.

Yet man is always seeking for security, if he can find it. In economics he seeks security for what he has; in religion he seeks security for what he is—safety for the winged, wishful soul within him. He wants to know, when his work is done, that the worker lives and endures.

All our religion is an effort to feel "at home" in this amazing universe, yet it is only in a strange and surprising universe that we can ever really feel at home. In a perfectly secure and predictable world we would be bored, as certainly as in a world of complete uncertainty.

No part of life can be lived without faith, least of all on the level of moral adventure, where everything is staked on the faith that there is a best way to live and that it is best to live for the best.

After all, courage and the faith born of courage, is our only security, and it is futile as well as foolish to ask for any other.

TWO DEAD DOGS BROUGHT BACK TO BRIEF RE-LIVING

California Biologist Reports Limited Success of Experiment

Berkeley, Calif., March 17—(AP)—Two dead dogs brought back to life by the magic of science gave a doctor hope today that human life may be restored.

Not that the goal is immediately in sight. The operation was a partial success but the two dogs died all over again.

Dr. Robert E. Cornish, biologist of the University of California, directed the experiments yesterday. The dogs were asphyxiated with nitrogen gas and pronounced dead.

Then injections of adrenalin, heparin and oxygen were administered, combined with a "teeter-totter" device to restore the circulation of the blood. The doctor said that heart action and respiration were restored. One dog, a fox terrier, lived again for four hours. Another, also a terrier, came back for five hours.

The trouble with the dogs, Dr. Cornish said, was that on their return journey they didn't seem to take an interest in things. Neither appeared to regain consciousness.

A record kept by the scientists showed the second dog, proclaimed dead from nitrogen gas at 12:34 P. M., started to live again nine minutes later as indicated by the first heart beats. At 12:38, respiration was well underway. The dog soon twitched, gave knee reflexes, moved its lips and eyes. At 4 P. M. the respiration and pulse approached normal. An hour later the breathing became labored and at 5 P. M. "re-death occurred."

Dr. Cornish said he will continue his experiments and that if "consciousness" can be added to the restored organic functions "life may be prolonged for a considerable period."

He hopes that, if successful, the knowledge can be applied to revive persons stricken dead by electric shocks, heart attacks and other similar causes.

Taught Indians to Scalp
Many Indian tribes never scalped their slain enemies until they learned the practice from the English colonists.

The number of fatalities resulting from traffic accidents in the United States last year was 29,500, which is a reduction of more than 4,000 deaths under the previous year.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

PABLITO, a handsome youth, works at the palatial Florida home of millionaire JIM FIELD. When Field's daughter, ESTELLE, arrives Pablito falls in love with her.

Pablito knows nothing of his parents—a titled Englishman and a servant girl. He makes his home with NORRIS NOYES, wanted for a murder years ago. Noyes flees when a guest of Field's sees him and recognizes him. Pablito, dressed as a torero, goes to a masquerade at Field's home to see Estelle. There is a tender love scene between them.

The same night Pablito strikes a man he has seen mistreating a child. He thinks the man is dead. LOTTIE and BEAU, two thieves, see this. The next thing Pablito knows he is in a motor boat with these two. Beau has a gun and tells Pablito to head the boat for Cuba.

At the Field home search begins for Pablito. It is believed he killed TED JEFFRIES and stole the jewelry cabinet. Pablito TREADWAY knows this is not true but fears scandal if he tells the truth.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XV

"THE 'Silver Dart' has been found," Field announced as Marcia joined the group. "It was sighted by Jo Janvier who's headed for Rio in his yacht. He wirelessed."

"Empty?" Marcia asked.

"Yes. Signal up—perhaps for help. It was well below Cuba."

"Can Pablito swim?"

Field laughed. "Swim?" he echoed. "My God, can he swim! He's a fish. He was one of those dock rats, the sort you toss coins to when you sail for Havana."

"Do you think he's in Havana? Will they look for him there?" Marcia asked feverishly. She could at least warn Pablito. Thank heaven she had enough money to hunt for him and care for him if he need arose.

Field said, "He couldn't swim to Havana. The theory is that the boat got half way there and then ran out of gasoline. Someone else may have picked him up or he may have jumped overboard, seeing something bearing down on him. He wasn't a coward. He once licked big Zeke, who had all the other servants afraid of him."

"Jim," Marcia said, "why are you so faithfully certain Pablito killed—Jeff?" She could not help the break in her voice nor the hesitation between the words.

ONE of the men studied his cigar thoughtfully, the other looked out to sea. Field thought, "Steady, old girl! You're giving yourself away! You said more patiently and slowly than was usually his way. 'I know he did, Marcia. His foster father is a man named Noyes, wanted for a murder years ago. Jeff saw Noyes on one of the small keys and recognized him. He thought Noyes recognized him, too. Noyes must have told Pablito about it and the boy obviously decided to seal Jeff's lips once and for all."

"I think you're working on very little," Marcia said sharply. "My dear," Field answered irritably, "the whole thing's clear. We have the proof in Pablito's dagger which my own poor little girl recognized this morning. There's the fact, too, that the boy knocked down an old man who tried to stop him—close to killed the old chap—and this fellow's child described Pablito. It all ties up—not a doubt in the world!"

"Perhaps it was Noyes who did it," Marcia persisted.

Field laughed. "Noyes!" he said and laughed again. "Remember him, Fortney?" he asked, turning to the man at his right. "So easy-going he'd do anything to avoid a fight!"

"Then how did he murder anyone?"

"Oh, Lord!" Field broke out as Fortney drawled a lazy, glowed. "Rather good—come to think of it."

Marcia was tapping a toe on the sand and looking down. "It's no sign the boy did it because he knocked down an old man," she said.

"Pablito was in a big hurry," Field pointed out. "And there's another thing, too. Nobody but Pablito could run the 'Silver Dart' for more than 10 feet lately. The damned tub had developed a heart leak. So you see?"

"Jim," said Marcia, "if you don't mind I'm going on to Havana. The carnival's starting and I think it might do me good."

"Flying over?" Field questioned.

"Yes," she answered quickly.

and her face grew keen. She could get there promptly, she realized. She felt herself responding to the promise of action. She could warn Pablito, protect him and care for him after she found him. In that way she could discharge at least a part of the debt she owed him. She had a curious certainty that he must be in Havana or near there. This certainty persisted despite all the testimony that made it seem impossible.

"Will you make my excuses to Norma and say goodbye to her for me?" she asked, turning to Field. "I judge she's too busy to see me."

"She's rather absorbed," he admitted, frowning. "Estelle's quite ill. This affair has upset her. It seems that she was fond of Pablito. He had taken her boating a good deal. I think Norma would not want to leave her."

Fortney looked after Marcia as she turned to go back to her bungalow. Watching her he said, "All that Theresa Jeffries lost were her pearls and rings."

The implication was understood.

"I'm glad Marcia's getting out," Field stated bluntly. Then he forgot her and her interest in the late Mr. Jeffries who had been so unwise as to object to a stranger's opening the small safe that held his wife's pearls. Field forgot because Alvarez was hurrying toward him, an important message making his lean face keen and intense.

Field left his guests to move toward Alvarez.

"There is news," Alvarez stated. "A fisherman last night saw a light in the shack where Pablito lived. It is thought that he has not left Florida at all but, in order to set us off on a false trail, he started the 'Silver Dart' to sea with his red rash—if it was his—tied to the mast. I've sent men over to the shack to search—"

DIET AND VITAMINS

Does our diet need to be supplemented by vitamins or does the food eaten by the people of the United States living under proper economic circumstances contain a sufficiency of these essential substances?

That is a question often asked. Judging by the number of "protective foods" and vitamin-containing medicines available, one would be led to believe that we are in constant danger of vitamin starvation.

However, that this is not basically so is demonstrated by study by the late Dr. Alfred P. Hess and associates. The study was conducted in an infant's home where the inmates are maintained under close to ideal hygienic and dietetic circumstances.

This was the problem: Does our dietary require vitamin A supplement? The argument that served as a basis for the study was as follows:

The children in the institution suffer periodically from infectious diseases of the respiratory tract. Vitamin A is considered a protective against infections.

If the diet of the children is not sufficiently rich in vitamin A, then a group given supplemental vitamin feedings ought to have fewer colds and respiratory diseases than a similar group living under similar conditions but not receiving vitamin supplements.

Two groups of 40 children were studied under this scheme. The results were that the addition of extra doses of cod liver oil and of vitamin A did not effect a reduction in the number of respiratory or other infections.

The control group, without supplemental feedings, did just as well in these respects, nor was there any substantial difference between the two groups in the gaining of weight.

This study must not be taken as disproving the value of vitamin A or of any of the other vitamins. It merely demonstrates that the average good, balanced diet apparently contains an adequate supply of the vitamins essential to bodily health.

REV. E. W. O'NEAL, RETIRED, DIED IN OREGON LAST EVE

Had Been Member of M. E. Conference for Many Years

The Rev. Ernest Wray O'Neal, one of northern Illinois Methodist's pioneer pastors, died at his home in Oregon last evening after several weeks' illness. He was 70 years old, and had been a member of Rock River Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church for many years.

He retired from the ministry a few years ago after serving as pastor of First M. E. church of Freeport. He was for seven years pastor of the First M. E. church, Chicago, now the Chicago Methodist temple, and also served large churches in Aurora and Minneapolis.

On his retirement from the ministry he went to Arkansas and a year ago returned to Oregon to live. He was known throughout the United States for his lectures from the Iyueum platform and numbered among his friends Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, whom he "discovered" when Glenn Frank was a young man.

He is survived by his widow; a daughter, Janet, of Duncan, Miss.; a brother-in-law, Dr. Frank D. Sheets of Oregon; and a sister in Florida. His late father was also a young man.

NOTICE!

I have found that most people who buy coal have a good idea of the definite coal fields, knowing the quality of each. They seem to care nothing about our fancy names. What they want is what field—what mine does it come from. So we have tried in our advertising to explain where each coal originates, what field it comes from and we intend in every case to have the best coal coming from its respective field.

COAL

PEOPLE'S ECONOMY—Mined in Illinois. We have constant reorders.

HARRISBURG LUMP and HARRISBURG FURNACE—Southern Illinois. Joins the Franklin County. The same field... We think a better coal.

EAST KENTUCKY—Mary Helen, the well known Harlan field.

As low in price as any coals of equal quality from their respective fields.

KINDLING—Cut up and split ready for use.

We require our deliverymen to take every pains. Do a neat job in putting the coal in the basement and leave the customer pleased and satisfied with the service. Anyone that does not get this service from us please call us on the phone.

SPRING'S BRUIN!

This spring showing was a bear—and then some. When spring-like zephyrs first permeated Sultana's rocky lair in a Milwaukee zoo, she emerged for a public appearance, bringing with her—yes, you've guessed it—the very newest thing in polar bears. The woolly newcomer, Sultana's 11th offspring born in captivity, first saw the dim light of its cave three months ago, but not until the first mild day did Sultana give her cub this peep at the outside world.

church wedding Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock the marriage of Miss Neva M. Richwine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Richwine of this place and Theo. C. Heinzeroth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heinzeroth of Oregon, was solemnized.

The ring ceremony was read by the Rev. D. D. Funderburg, pastor of the First Church of the Brethren on West State Street, Rockford, in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with matching accessories and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. She was attended by two sisters of the groom, Mrs. Martha Yardley of Rockford and Mrs. Hazel Bowman of Oregon.

The bridesmaids were attired in pink and blue satin with accessories to match. Master Lyle Yardley, nephew of the groom was ring bearer and was dressed in a black velvet suit. Little Barbara Jean Boman, niece of the groom was pretty in yellow and white silk. She was the flower girl.

They will make their home in Rockford, where the good wishes of their many friends follow them.

Attended Institute
Henry W. Hicks brought to our home the other evening something of much interest in the art of undertaking and embalming. Mr. Hicks attended an institute of funeral directors of northern Illinois in Rockford, and the seventy-five men there were given instruction in the art of plastic surgery and cosmetology. Mr. Hicks had a face bulged up and molded of wax, with eyebrows, lashes and ting to bring out all the near-life features which can be accomplished on a corpse. It certainly was a well done piece of work. The instructor at the institute was a professor in derma surgery and cosmetics of Columbus, Ohio. This community is very fortunate in having such an excellent undertaker and embalmer in their midst and also for the lovely funeral home which he and his wife maintain. The funeral home filled a long-felt want in this community, having no chapel at the cemetery. We wish to congratulate Mr. Hicks on his splendid work of art and feel sure that he will gladly display it to anyone calling at his home.

Special Lenten services every Sunday afternoon at the hour of 2:30. Our Redeemer's fifth word from the cross will be the theme of the sermon.

Sunday school and Bible class at 1:30 P. M.

—F. W. Henke, Pastor.
—P. T. A. Meeting

The Parent-Teacher meeting will be held in the school building on Tuesday evening, March 20th. The program follows:

Vocal solos, "When the Dew is Falling," and "Lady of Dreams"—by Miss Pauline Trostle.

Address, "Indians of the Southwest"—Rev. C. P. Blekking.

Chorus: "In the Heart of the Hills," and "Bluebird of My Heart"—by Third Room Girls.

Selections by German Band.

Change in Hours
Station Agent Howard Karper of the C. & N. W. Ry. announced a new schedule of hours at the local depot. The agent hours now are: 7:20 A. M. to 4:20 P. M. on each week day. No Sunday assignment has as yet been made. Sunday passengers should purchase tickets on Saturday in order to take advantage of the lower rates to Chicago.

Brethren Church Notes
Sunday school at 9:30.
C. W. & Y. P. D. at 7:00.
Praying at 7:45.

Our pre-Easter services will begin Sunday March 25th and close Easter Sunday. It is encouraging to know that about forty are reading the N. T. as outlined by the Bible-reading course. "Thy Word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light to my pathway."

—O. D. Buck, Elder.
Methodist Notes

10:00 Sabbath school. A cordial welcome awaits you.
11:00 Morning worship. The fifth in a series of Lenten sermons. Good music. The Cantata for Palm Sunday is making fine progress. You will want to hear it. Save the date.
—Chas. D. Wilson, Minister

Special music by the choir.
Young People's meeting at 7:00. Leader—Wm. Fuller.
Topic: "What Has Jesus Done For Us?"

A cordial invitation to all to attend these services.

—C. P. Blekking, Minister

Brother Very Ill
Mrs. Annis Roe received word that her brother Frank Hill, was seriously ill with heart trouble in a hospital at Muskogee, Okla. Frank has a host of friends here where he has visited many times, and all are hoping for a recovery.

Stainer's Crucifixion
A chorus of forty members composed of singers from the various churches of the community will give the well known cantata, "The Crucifixion" by John Stainer.

This is a meditation on the sacred passion of Jesus Christ with solo voices and chorus interspersed with familiar hymns, appropriate to the Lenten season.

Such a composition should help us to appreciate the meaning of the Crucifixion. All should attend this service in the spirit with which it is given—that of meditation and reverence and not spectacular vocal or instrumental display.

The chorus has worked faithfully for several weeks and should have the co-operation of the community by attending this fine musical service.

The cantata will be given Palm Sunday, March 25th, at 7:45 P. M. in the Methodist Episcopal church of Franklin Grove.

A detailed program will appear in the near future.

Use Burden's milk. It is made in Dixon.
